

Dr Marc Remacle

Dr Remacle is an Academic Professor of the faculty of Medicine at the University of Louvain, Belgium. He is consultant in the department of ORL and Head & Neck surgery of CHL, Luxembourg. He is also director of the Voice and swallowing center

Dr Remacle chaired the joint commission of the Free University of Brussels and the Catholic University of Louvain for the master's degree in Logopedics.

His interest in Laser surgery led him to contribute to the development of dedicated devices as the micromanipulator and microinstruments. He initiated the new scanner and the new robotic micromanipulator for laser-assisted incision and dissection. He contributed to the development of the Co2 laser wave-guide.

Together with his colleague Prof Georges Lawson, they have initiated the TORS in Belgium. He presented numerous communications and published papers mainly on laser-assisted microsurgery and microphonosurgery.

He regularly takes part in International courses and conferences on laser microsurgery.

He is in the scientific board for the following journals:

Annales francaises d'ORL et de chirurgie cervico-faciale (Paris); Acta Oto-Rhino-Laryngologica Belgica
European archives of Oto-rhino-laryngology ; Annals of Otology, Rhinology & Laryngology; Laryngoscope

He is currently:

Founding member and the Past-General secretary of the European laryngological association,

Member of the Collegium Oto-Rhino-laryngologicum Amitiae Sacrum,

Corresponding member of the American Laryngological Association,

International member of the American Broncho-Esophagological Association,

Corresponding member of the American Head & Neck Society,

Corresponding member of the American academy of ORL- Head & neck Surgery,

Corresponding member of the French society of ORL and Head & Neck pathology,

Member of the French society of Head & Neck Carcinology,

Member of the French society of Phoniatics,

Member of the Belgian society of ORL and Head & Neck Surgery,

General secretary of the International Association of Phonosurgery,

Past-President of the European federation of the ORL societies (EUFOS),

Past-President the European confederation of the European ORI -Head & Neck surgery