

Sang-Wook Kang M.D., Ph D.

Assistant professor, Division of Endocrine Surgery at Yonsei University College of Medicine Seoul, Korea.

Current director of secretary general in the Korean Association of Robotic Surgery (KAROS).

Director of international cooperation in Korean society of intraoperative neural monitoring of surgeon (KINMOS).

He did visiting scholarship at Kliniken Essen-Mitte, Academic Hospital of the University of Duisburg-Essen, Germany 2010, and did clinical fellowship in Surgery-oncology department, Tulane university, USA from 2015 to 2017. He has substantial contribution in the development of endocrine surgery in general and minimally invasive thyroid surgery in particular.

He is a member of Yonsei robotic endocrine surgical team and he and his colleagues performed more than 5,800 robotic thyroid adrenal surgeries.

He published 7 chapters of books on Robotic and Minimally Invasive thyroid and adrenal surgery and has more than 100 publications in world renowned journals.